

Abstract

A customer identifier system aids in providing personalized web browsing in a public or semi-public internet kiosk. The system further aids in streamlining the process of signing a customer up for subscription services.

5

10